FOREIGN NEWS.

WAR FEELING IN ENGLAND.
LONDON, July 6.—The war feeling today is extremely high. Excited crowds gathered around the bulletins and stock exchange. The rumor that the English had begun the bombardment of Alexandria caused an immediate rise in Egyptian securities.

The first English corps, consisting of three divisions, and comprising 15,000 troops in England and 10,000 in India, will take active part in military operations in Egypt. Artillery will be supplied from land operations by the Mediterranean fleet. Large shipments of war munitions have been ordered for immediate dispatch to the scene of action. Excitement has been caused by the unofficial announcement that France will withdraw her fleet from Egyptian waters if England bombards Alexandria.

News that the war has actually opened is momentarily expected. A dispatch from Alexandria says the admiral notified the authorities to stop putting out breadstuffs under threat of immediate bombardment. On receipt of his message the work ceased. The government announces it will call the British reserves next Monday.

Gladstone announced in the house today the facts did not necessitate asking of an Egyptian war credit, but would ask one as soon as deemed necessary. He subsequently announced De Lesseps told him (Gladstone) that in the event of an attack on the Suez canal it would be closed temporarily but could not be destroyed. Gladstone said De Lesseps' opinions would not guide the English government in whatever action they choose to take.

ALEXANDRIA, July 6.—Ragheb Pasha received a telegram from the sultan saying the British fleet would bombard unless work on the fort was stopped and would hold the Khedive and ministry responsible. Ragheb replied that demonstrations were already made and asked to continue work, waiting a reply. It is reported Arabi Bey is distributing arms among the natives.

SEYMOUR'S SAND.
ALEXANDRIA, July 6.—The decided tone of Admiral Seymour's second letter to the military governor, with today's movements of the English war vessels in the harbor has caused the gravest apprehension among all classes. The admiral has notified the governor that the first appearance of any renewal of operations on the defensive works he will open on the fortifications. The fleet is now in position to begin bombardment. It is thought that the forts will be silenced in fifteen minutes after the opening fires.

SUEZ CANAL.
LONDON, July 6.—From Alexandria the rumor is that marauding bands of Egyptians have made several attempts to cut the Suez Canal at remote points from their habitations.

The report that Minister Lowell had resigned, is denied.

THE IRISH RISING.
DUBLIN, July 6.—It is now very generally believed that a rising of Irishmen is imminent. The crisis in Egyptian affairs and consequent military embarrassment of the government are regarded by the Irish revolutionaries as furnishing the long sought opportunity. The Orange society throughout the country have published a circular warning Irishmen that a rising is threatened, and asking them to preserve the peace by refraining from participation in the movement.

THE LADIES LAND LEAGUE.
The archbishops and bishops of Ireland have also issued a circular forbidding priests to give countenance and support to the ladies land league. It also forbids the ladies to attend public meetings called for the purposes of agitation or otherwise, without the consent of the priests of the parishes in which such meetings are to be held. The documents have created considerable excitement, and the interference of the church is sharply resented in certain quarters.

A CELTIC CONFEDERATION.
The plans of the executive committee of the Irish Land League.

NEW YORK, July 6.—The council of seven appointed by the Chicago land league convention, the land league executive committee, and Michael Davitt met today in conference at the Astor house. Present, M. Boland, Patrick Ford, Patrick Alyn, Doctor

Wm. B. Wallace, D. C. Birdsell, Alexander Sullivan, A. F. Brown, chairman of the Chicago committee of seven; James Mooney, Rev. Lawrence Walsh, John J. Hynds, of the central council of the land league in America; Michael Davitt, on behalf of the executive Irish national land league. The following resolution was adopted: "That the conference earnestly recommend that the executive of the Irish national land league be requested to detail Mr. Parnell and others to meet with this body for the purpose of perfecting arrangements for the union or confederation of the Celtic race in America, to aid Ireland in the struggle for freedom of land and self-government."

Among Davitt's suggestions to the conference was a preliminary conference in America of all Irish-American citizens to consider the advisability of forming the Irish race throughout the world into a Celtic confederation for the purpose of hastening on the attainment of free land, free labor, and self-government for Ireland, the central executive of the Irish national land and labor league of Great Britain and Ireland to be recognized as the supreme authority to decide upon the ways and means by which the Celtic confederation can be best arrived at, and for which it is to be formed.

NEBRASKA REPUBLICANS.

The State Convention to be Held at Omaha, Sept. 20th.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE BEE.
LINCOLN, July 6.—At the meeting of the republican state central committee today Omaha was selected as the point for holding the next state convention, and September 20th the date. The basis of representation adopted was the vote for Isaac Powers, regent, in 1881, giving 428 delegates.

The District Convention.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE BEE.
LINCOLN, Neb., July 6.—The district convention will occur at Nebraska City, Hastings and Fremont. The first and third districts on September 7th, and the second on September 27th.

Little Rock Republicans.

LITTLE ROCK, July 6.—The republican state convention is in session and will nominate a full ticket.

Kasson Renominated.

DES MOINES, July 6.—John A. Kasson was renominated for congress today. The convention was not in session over twenty minutes.

Cameron's Clan.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., July 6.—Cameron arrived this afternoon. He had a conference with General Beaver, Secretary Quay, Senator Cooper, and Christopher Magee. The object was to consider a programme for the state committee's action next week on the proposed compromise.

Cameron strongly opposed any action on the part of the regulars in the direction of a surrender to the independents.

All Nonsense.

WASHINGTON, July 6.—Senator Mitchell is credited with saying today that the talk of a compromise by the Pennsylvania republicans is nonsense, as Cameron's demand is too great for the independents to accept.

Political Pointers.

AKRON, O., July 6.—The republican convention today nominated Capt. A. S. McClure, of Wooster, for congress.

Portland, Me., July 6.

The democrats and greenbackers of the First district today nominated Joseph Dane, of Kennebec, for congress.

CRIMINAL NEWS.

THE DEAD DETECTIVE.
NEW YORK, July 6.—The murderer of Private Detective W. J. Kelly has not been discovered. It was first supposed the murderers were four Cubans he had ejected from the court garden, where he was killed by a man jealous of the woman Kelly was escorting home when attacked.

LOST THIEVES.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., July 6.—The lumber firm of King, O'Neill & King were arrested for larceny of logs valued at $20,000. They have been stealing for three years.

A FATAL FOURTH.

The Wreck of the Steamer Sciota With an Excursion Aboard.

The Collision and Rescue of the Passengers Described by an Eye Witness.

THE SCIOA WRECK.
STEVENSVILLE, O., July 6.—The bodies recovered from the Sciota are E. Sprague of Hammondsville, Belle Shields of Wellsville, Mrs. Maggie Shields of East Liverpool, Ed. Duffy of Steubenville, Daniel Thomas, son of Captain Thomas. The indications are that more bodies are in the lower deck. The boat will be dragged near shore to-night.

THE STORY OF AN EYE WITNESS.

Arthur McNully who lives at Cross creek was an eye witness to the whole matter. The steamer Sciota, which left Wellsville on the morning of the 4th with an excursion party of 500 persons for Mount Vernon, W. Va., a distance of sixty miles down the river, was returning that evening about 9 p. m., when she collided with the tugboat John Lomas at Mingo Junction, 25 miles below the town.

McNully was standing in his door immediately opposite where the collision occurred. It was about 8 o'clock. The Lomas was passing the island chute whistled for the preference of sides, and near as I can judge it was three minutes before the Sciota answered, and neither of them appeared to sheer off, and almost immediately the collision occurred. General confusion followed, and I saw people jumping from the hurricane deck and all parts of the steamer. As far as I could see, the Lomas struck the Sciota forward, for the water flew over the bow of the Sciota. The Sciota sunk almost instantly, and the Lomas backed up as soon as possible. The Lomas ran to the Ohio shore and landed her passengers, then returned to the wreck. The crew and officers of the Lomas then exercised every effort to rescue the unfortunate passengers.

and succeeded in landing over four hundred, making several trips, and continued to work as long as there was any who desired to leave. As soon as I saw the accident I jumped into my skiff and started for the wreck. When I got there I got five persons within a distance of 25 feet, and there were two other skiffs below me picking them up, but I don't know how many they got. They were hawling all over, and there appeared to be a great many in the wreck, but it was too dark for me to tell the number. I then took the parties I rescued to the Ohio side, and by that time the Lomas had landed their party and returned to the wreck. I had just come from work as the boat came back and couldn't tell.

HOW MANY WERE ON BOARD.

but from what the parties who had landed told me there were from 650 to 700 on the boat. From the run of the conversation of those who had been landed I gathered that from 500 to 550 were landed. Three women were carried ashore and died after they had been rescued. Two little boys and the assistant engineer of the Sciota were rescued and stopped at Cox's. The assistant engineer told me he thought many lives were lost, as the lower decks were crowded and the boat sunk instantly.

The scenes on the Sciota were heartrending, and life struggles were frightful to behold. The Lomas was only slightly disabled and went to work at once to save those on board the unfortunate Sciota. This task was rendered easy by the bright moonlight, and no doubt many lives were saved from the reason. It is now believed that the first reports were exaggerated, and that the loss of life will not exceed twenty persons.

THE SEARCH FOR THE BODIES.

of the victims of the Sciota continued today. Steamer Emma Gray, from Pittsburg, and the Welcome, from Wheeling, are rendering material aid. Twenty-eight bodies have been recovered and fifty-eight are reported missing. It is expected the number will exceed one hundred.

The evidence before the inquest today was to the effect that the pilot was to blame. All agree that the John Lomas signalled in time and the disaster would have been averted had the Sciota acted immediately.

Up North.

WINNEPEG, July 6.—The dominion elections in Manitoba have resulted adversely to the present government. The Canadian Pacific railroad is completed to Thunder bay, on lake Superior.

Marine.

NEW YORK, July 6.—Arrived, Parthia from Liverpool, Australia from Hamburg, State of Indiana from Glasgow; sailed, Lesing for Hamburg.

Riotous Prisoners.

CONCORD, Mass., July 5.—All quiet at the state prison to-night. Gov. Long and the prison commissioners gave Warden Earle their moral support, and the latter is master of the situation. Last night thirteen ring-leaders were brought to the strong part of the prison and chained to their heads. Paul Gregory, a ring-leader, told the warden today he was certain if these men were released order would be restored. The warden declined to be dictated. Later on James Dolan was ordered out of his cell by an officer. He threw a pin at the officer. Warden Earle then ordered him out. Dolan refused and threatened to brain the first man who approached him. The fellow convicts shouted: "Stick it out, Jimmy; we are with you." The warden sprang into the jail, grappled Dolan and threw him into the corridor, where he was chained. This incident impressed convicts that the warden was not to be conquered, and no further outbreak is expected.

SLUGGED BY SULLIVAN.

James Elliot Badly Beaten by the Champion.

Knocked Out of Time and Picked up Unconscious.

Special to St. Louis Republic.

NEW YORK, July 4.—James Elliot attempted to stand before John L. Sullivan in a fight with gloves today. Sullivan had offered to give $500 to any man who would stand before him for four rounds. At the call of time the men stepped quickly forward and shook hands. It was about the last thing Elliot had any chance to do at all gracefully. Sullivan rushed upon him like a cyclone and drove him back into his corner and pounded him about the face and neck in a way to make him think. The blows were slippery, and Elliot seemed dazed by the hot beginning of the fight. He stepped under one of Sullivan's blows, and twice, in twice as many seconds, he fell to the floor, clinging both times to Sullivan's legs, which seemed to stand as firmly as if they had been set in the planks. Elliott hardly regained his feet before he was down again twice in the same way. His bare back was scratched by the falls, his mouth was bleeding, and his white breeches were streaked with mud.

HE LOOKED DISCOURAGED.

as he dropped into his chair in the corner at the end of the exciting three minutes, and the crowd cheered for Sullivan, who had walked off smilingly to his side of the platform. Johnny Roche gave Elliott something from a bottle and fanned him. At the minute's rest Mr. Sullivan stepped quickly to the scratch. Elliott did not appear to be so eager for the fray. The champion again crowded the veteran into the corner and "stung" him furiously. He hit him under the ear with a mallet and showered blows all over his head. Elliott ducked and dodged and once he fell, catching Sullivan by the legs in a plain attempt to upset him. He made several fudges, too, which Sullivan refused to claim. Sullivan seemed to prefer keeping his men a little longer in order to knock him out completely. Elliott hardly managed to counter at all upon the forbidding front of Sullivan, and his resistance seemed to grow feeble under the pounding which he suffered. Elliott made a desperate effort to duck under a frightful blow from Sullivan. He caught it squarely.

IN THE BACK OF THE NECK.

Then the men clinched like grizzly bears until they were parted to begin the struggle again. Sullivan landed stinging and resounding blows. Elliott's ear ached, and his head rolled over again on the floor. Live stock as before about Sullivan. The men were separated, and when they met again the fighting furiously. Elliott clinched him again and both fell, Sullivan of course on top.

The third round was looked upon as the decisive one. If he stood up for four rounds Elliott would be entitled to $500. Evidently Sullivan had no intention that the fight should last another round. He closed with Elliott in the latter's corner and slugged him about the head with such rapidity and violence that Elliott must have seen more stars than there was to be seen in all the rest of the firmament. The three-minute round was less than half over when Sullivan with a straight blow caught Elliott just under the chin on the left side and knocked him into the ropes. It was then that Elliott and hung over the ropes without a movement in danger of dropping to the ground a few feet below. Johnny Roche took hold of the body and tried to raise it up. He had to call for help and so got Elliott fairly upon the platform. It took two men to lift the unconscious fighter into a chair. Restoratives were applied, but Elliott was slow to respond to their influence. Presently he opened his eyes and looked feebly about him like one who asks, "Where am I?" This, however, was not in time for him to respond to the next call to the scratch and the consciousness that his ordeal had ended at any cost seemed to revive him. He was bundled up, and five minutes later was led limping and reeling away from the ring. He afterwards revived enough to walk home. The time of the last round was one minute and twenty seconds.

Going Into the Pool.

CHICAGO, July 6.—The Chicago & St. Paul road has been admitted to membership in the Iowa pool. General agents will be appointed at Omaha and Kansas City.

The Freight Handlers' Affair.

NEW YORK, July 6.—Roscoe Conkling, attorney for the New York Central, and F. Loomis, for the Erie, have formally applied to State Attorney General Russell for ten days' adjournment of argument upon the order issued by Judge Danahy to show cause to-morrow why a writ of mandamus should not be issued compelling the discharge of their duty as common carriers under their charter and forward the accumulated freight in their depots.

THE PROSPECTS FOR A FINE.

mill being established here are bright, many parties wanting to start one soon. There is no better sight in this state; notwithstanding the fact that many of the companies are to accede to the demands of the strikers in the meantime and render litigation unnecessary, the strikers being determined and the shippers meaning to compel the companies to carry.

NEW YORK, July 6.

With one exception the status of the freight handlers' strike is unchanged. At the New Jersey southern freight pier the demands of the old men were acceded to and they were at work today. The workingmen say the other companies will follow in a short time.

A PIERCE-ING SCREAM.

The County Seat of Pierce Determined to Be Heard if Not Seer.

Young in Years But Old and Strong in Push and Parse.

A Sketch of the Town and People.

Correspondence of The Bee.

Pierce, the county seat of Pierce county, situated near the central part and on the S. C. & P. railroad, has, for the past six months, made finer progress than any town in the state of equal advantage.

Twelve years ago the first settlers on the present town sight were J. H. Brown and R. S. Lucas, and when they passed an eventful and historical life, with nothing around but the wild prairie for their future prospects.

During this time until the S. C. & P. trains came steaming through the beautiful Elkton valley, which was made Pierce one of the most thriving towns in northern Nebraska.

E. P. Weatherly, formerly from Iowa, built the first and only drug store a short period ago, and is rapidly developing at present.

The business men with the beautiful surrounding country and the ambitious farmers backing them will make Pierce one of the most thriving towns in northern Nebraska.

E. P. Weatherly, formerly from Iowa, built the first and only drug store a short period ago, and is rapidly developing at present.

The business men with the beautiful surrounding country and the ambitious farmers backing them will make Pierce one of the most thriving towns in northern Nebraska.

Dr. Backer, eight or nine months ago, started from his home in Indiana, where he had practiced medicine for several years with success, to find a location in this state and build up a practice. Visiting different points along the many railroads, he came to the conclusion that no town suited him as well as Pierce and immediately removed his family and located himself in a fine practice, which is creditable to the town.

Pugh & Hall, dealers in all kind of merchandise, their old building not being large enough to enable them to do business, have built a large store on Main street, in which they are carrying a large stock and doing a rushing business.

Mr. Pugh, owning a large lumber yard, supplies the booming town and county with the best of lumber. The Pierce County Call is, and has done much for the advancement of the town, calling all to better lands in its immediate vicinity.

Christian Heizer, proprietor of the North Fork Valley hotel, has improved its accommodation by a new addition, and intends soon to enlarge more, when he will be able to give first class accommodations to all.

Mr. Chase is erecting a fine barn for the live horses, which is about completed. He has fine lot of horses, and is able to furnish those wishing transportation with the best of accommodation.

There are many fine business places being erected which will soon be completed. Mr. Huston's general store is being built on Main street, which corner the handiest trading point in town by the management that center in its jurisdiction. Mr. Huston came to this town about a year ago, being satisfied with its location, bought some land, returned to his home in Ohio with the intention of returning with his family, came back this spring, erected a fine residence in the center of town, will soon have his store completed in which he will carry on a large business. Having a fine mercantile experience he cannot help but make a success.

Cones & Spencer, young men, intend to open a bank by the first of September.

Mr. Cones, formerly from Winner, this state, and Mr. Spencer, from Chicago, Ill., are young men of energy, and are entering upon the most notable business with a large capital to commence with. They will be fully patronized by the many people needing a bank in their vicinity.

Mr. Mason intends to build a hardware store-room, which will be an advantage to the town. Coming to town early in the spring, he was favorably impressed with its facilities, and built a fine cottage on Main street, in which he is living.

Mr. Frank Mathews, general painter, does and is able to compete with the best of workmen, giving general satisfaction. He has more than he can do.

The prospects for a fine mill being established here are bright, many parties wanting to start one soon. There is no better sight in this state; notwithstanding the fact that many of the companies are to accede to the demands of the strikers in the meantime and render litigation unnecessary, the strikers being determined and the shippers meaning to compel the companies to carry.

habitants have raised $1,000, and are going to erect a $1,500 church. After forming a church constitution and electing the respective officers, they intend soon to begin the work.
